Judith et al.:

Please see the email below from Bob Michaels. Bob is a toxicologist; he has been working with us on the Hoosick matter. As indicated by Bob, it appears that Channel 13 did a story recently in which it cited to a DOH "Fact Sheet" in support of the assertion that the PFOA contamination posed no threat to public health.

EPA may want to respond directly to Chanel 13 (WNYT) on this matter.

Thanks .

Hi David,

Attached the Village of Hoosick Falls homepage, which now features three URL links: to the EPA letter, the EPA's PFOA Fact Sheet (appended to the letter), and the NYS DOH 'Fact' Sheet. WNYT news coverage yesterday (can't find it yet on their web site) quoted DOH that the drinking water is safe. The reporter, apparently reading from a prompt sheet, was Jim Kambrich.

As a suggestion, to combat misinformation, WNYT's health reporter Benita Zahn probably would be interested in the PFOA story, and my wife, Eileen (a friend of Benita's), said she would be happy to try to facilitate this, if you are interested.

Thx for PFOA/obesity article... will follow up on this (from Florida!)

Bob
